A Not-For-Profit organization helping children and adults listen, learn, and communicate since 1953

Adjusting To Amplification Class

The process of adjusting to amplification usually begins with a hearing aid fitting, but rarely ends there. Training and counseling are necessary to make a smooth adjustment to new listening environments. Topics covered during the session include, but are not limited to:

- Adjusting to hearing aid use
- Expectations from a hearing aid
- Basic communication strategies
- Coping with difficult listening situations
- Facilitating communication with others
- What others can do to help the hearing impaired individual

If you purchased your hearing aid through the Hearing Aid Dispensing Program at Buffalo Hearing & Speech Center, the Adjusting To Amplification Class is offered at no charge. If you purchased your hearing aid elsewhere, the fee for this one session is $40.00.

Hearing loss and aural rehabilitation may be made easier when family members are involved. You are welcome to bring a family member, or a person you think may be helpful in your rehabilitation, at no charge.

Seating is limited so please call for dates and to register
